

BRITISH SEIZE AMERICAN BOATS

By Telegram to The Freeman
Washington, Dec. 1.—Complaint by President Wagner of the American Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company that his steamer Genesee has been requisitioned by the British authorities at St. Lucia has amazed officials here. The entire matter is being hurriedly investigated by the state department as it is realized that a new and distinctly serious crisis with Great Britain is developing. Wagner already has declared that he has information that the Hocking and Kanakoe of his line are to be used by the British and this information, coupled as it is with the refusal of the British foreign office to modify any of its restrictions on American trade despite the emphatic protests that have been filed in London, is increasing the resentment felt by congressmen who have been advocating retaliatory embargo legislation.

The latest advocate of congressional action is James R. Mann, the Republican floor leader of the house. He said today that he was confident that unless the United States took more firm steps to protect its rights, the increased export trade which American transfers are seeking will not materialize. Leader Mann, however, said that he did not believe congressional action would be secured as he expected the administration to take steps to block it.

It is expected that shortly after congress convenes next week a number of resolutions dealing with this subject will be introduced. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, who will speak for the cotton interests of the south, is preparing a speech in which he will denounce the British order in council and will cite precedents to indicate that the placing of cotton on the contraband list by the allies was a direct violation of the written pledges.

Meanwhile Secretary Lansing has about completed the supplemental protest to Great Britain on cotton embargo. The situation taken by the United States in this connection is that, having agreed to the principles set forth in the declaration of London, England and France are bound to accept the view that cotton cannot legally be included in any absolute contraband list. It is expected that this protest will be sent forward early next week.

31 MEN KILLED BY POWDER EXPLOSION

By Telegram to The Freeman
Wilmington, Del., Dec. 1.—Many hours of investigation of the explosion that killed thirty-one men at the Dupont Powder plant yesterday afternoon has failed to develop any evidence that the disaster was caused by an outside agency.

The actual cause of the explosion probably will never be known, as all the men who are in the packing house were killed when the building was destroyed.

During the night carpenters erected a high fence around the spot where the destroyed packing house was located. This was done to prevent interference with the work of searching for the bodies and also to prevent the removal of any evidence.

A large number of the company's employees refused to return to work today. Frightened by the disaster, they declared they would seek a less hazardous occupation.

Six workers who are badly injured are still in a serious condition, but are expected to recover.

NOT A DOVE ON FORD'S PEACE SHIP

By Telegram to The Freeman
New York, Dec. 1.—Mere spiritual peace of the soul is not going to satisfy Henry Ford for his Peace Ship. Indeed no; the Oscar II will be peaceful in appearance as well as in spirit for the entire interior is being redecorated "while you wait" in a way which is to be symbolic of this new variety of "just" peace which Mr. Ford confidently expects to appear in the stockings of the belligerent nations on Christmas morning. Naturally the decorators are not allowed to use the old-fashioned sort of peace symbols.

"Not a dove," commanded Mr. Ford, "not an olive branch, not a palm leaf and not a starry sky!"—and the decorators bravely guaranteed to avoid all symbols of peace.

Peace will likewise reign among the passengers, for cruel barriers, such as first and second cabin distinctions will be broken down, every cabin will be called "first" and all shall live together as brethren—and a few sisters. Brothers and sisters alike will be wearing silver name plate furnished by a considerate host so that introductions will be unnecessary and Dame Grundy will be dumped into the sea as far as introductions are concerned.

While these preparations are going on and while the general public is grasping its puzzled head to decide just what this Peace Ship project is all about, Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, who first suggested a Peace Ship to Henry Ford, is quite explicit as to what she believes this particular peace propaganda is to accomplish.

"Our object is not to bring about a peace as the result of the military advantage which one country may have over another," said she today. "Such a peace would not be the 'just' peace which is the only lasting peace; this enforced military peace would really mean the triumph of militarism. Our plan is to visit the neutral countries and to arouse there such a sentiment in favor of the non-military peace that the feeling will spread even into the belligerent countries and this feeling will rescue the soldiers from the trenches. We are not working in antagonism to the governments of the belligerent countries; but, since the governments are really the voice of the people, when the people have the courage to express themselves, the governments too will strive for peace."

A hot defence of Mr. Ford's plan was made today by B. W. Huebsch, the New York publisher, and likewise one of the pilgrims on this adventure, the most picturesque since Dr. Launcelot and Sir Galahad went searching for the holy grail.

"Well," said he, "anybody who ever did anything worth doing, from founding Christianity to building airships and telephoning without wires was ridiculed as a dreamer until he accomplished his purpose."

POST OFFICE IN MARLBORO RAIDED

Burglars broke into the post office in the Carpenter building, Marlborough, on Monday night and obtained $30 in cash and stamps. The robbery was discovered Tuesday morning by Postmaster Herbert McMullen. Mott Ronk, who with his family lives in apartments above the post office, heard peculiar noises during the night and made a partial investigation without result.

The littered contents of mail bags and letters greeted Postmaster McMullen when he entered the post office in the morning. It is supposed the burglars gained entrance through a rear window because a pane of glass had been removed. The cash taken, said to be $33, was kept in a drawer, as were the stamps. The intruders forced the window open.

Postmaster McMullen had taken home most of the postal receipts in accordance with his custom. There is a safe in the post office, but it has been open since the office was burglarized about three years ago. Then the burglars blew the safe and got a few cents for their trouble.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question is asked every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but often due to disordered blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the system better able to withstand the varying elements. This is the important reason why Scott's Emulsion should always be taken for colds, and it does more—builds strength to prevent sickness. Scott's Emulsion contains Nature's rare strength-building fats, so skillfully blended that the blood profits from every drop. It is free from harmful drugs or alcohol. Sold at drug stores—always get the genuine.

The Inside of the Hotel

Is the part that counts with the guest. The architect doesn't make a hotel, he only designs it. The builder doesn't make a hotel, he only builds it.

Don't select your stopping place from the outside. Look behind the front wall and see what is back of it.

The success of the Hotel Martinique is the personality back of it, which shows in the lobby, at the desk, in the restaurants and in the rooms.

The telephone attendants, the mail clerks, the room maids, even the bellboys reflect the personality back of the "House of Taylor." We don't preach prices only. We have pleasant, homelike rooms from $1.50 up.

In one and all you will find reflected the careful and insistent idea of guest-service that dominates every moment of your stay.

CRESCENTS DEFEAT MERCURY FIVE

On Thanksgiving night the Crescent Five of High Falls defeated the fast Mercury Five of Poughkeepsie, who had with them two players of the crack Wanderer Five of Poughkeepsie. In the last game of basketball held at the Board of Water Supply Hall. The Mercurys played very fast at first and it looked as if the Bridge City boys would have an easy victory, but as usual the High Falls boys warmed up and started off in whirlwind style. Through skillful passwork the Crescents brought the ball down the floor and E. LeFevre made a field basket which started the High Falls boys on their way to victory. From then on to the end of the first half the Mercurys seemed dazzled and were unable to score a field basket. The score at the end of the first half stood 13-2 in favor of the Crescents.

In the second half Poughkeepsie played faster basketball as did also the Crescents. Davenport took the place of Ray LeFevre, of the Crescents and played a very fast game. Rogers, Clary and Buckout of Poughkeepsie each succeeded in scoring two field baskets.

Otto Feth, the Crescents last center, starred throughout the game. His passwork was unsurpassable, while his basket shooting, notwithstanding the fact that his opponent, Clary, is one of the fastest centers in the city of Poughkeepsie, was neat and well deserved the applause that came from the many enthusiastic spectators. Feth played a clean game and deserves much praise for holding his fast opponent, Clary, down to field baskets.

Ray LeFevre and Ernest LeFevre have gained a great reputation through their faultless playing as guards on the High Falls team. Their opponents, Rogers and Buckout, should rejoice at the fact that they were able to score as they did. Clean, fast and skillful playing are the characteristic traits of the LeFevre boys' playing and these are brought out in every game they play.

Farrell and Freer, the Crescents two forwards, although well guarded by Howroyd and Spotts, scored as usual and helped make the game fast and exciting. Farrell and Freer have never as yet been held scoreless and this fact alone should be sufficient to describe the fast playing of Howroyd and Spotts, and their clean playing is also worthy of note. These two forwards have gained by their skillful basket shooting and fast and clever floor work the name of being the two fastest amateur forwards in Ulster county.

Davenport and Brink, who have played with High Falls for the first this year, are fast reaching the height of ability as players. Both players have received much praise for their fast playing in the games which they have been able to play this year.

These seven players, gentlemen of good character, well known and much respected, comprise the Crescent basketball team of High Falls, the champions of Ulster county.

By defeating the Mercury's of Poughkeepsie the Crescents have added to their long list of victories one more hard fought game. As the Mercury's are representatives of Poughkeepsie, Poughkeepsie should be proud for it is the general sentiment that these players come up to the standard that men of good character should possess. They fought hard, played clean and lost, but the spirit in which they took defeat meant as much as victory. The final score was 31-16 in favor of the Crescents.

The summary was as follows:

Crescent Five.	F.B.	F.P.	T.

Bel Moves a Pillar.

The Church of St. Nicolas, in the city of Rheims, is surrounded with pillars. When a certain bell in the tower is rung the top of one of the pillars always sways to the extent of seven inches on each side, although the base is immovable and the stones are so firmly cemented as to seem like a solid piece of masonry. Notwithstanding that each of the four bells is about the same distance from the troubling pillar, none of the others have the slightest effect upon it.—The Argonaut.

MISS ELIZABETH GURLEY FLYNN © INTL. FILM SERVICE.

GIRL LEADER OF I. W. W. ACQUITTED AFTER TRIAL IN NEW JERSEY.

Miss Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, leader of the I. W. W. who has been acquitted in Paterson, N. J., of the charge of inciting strikers to violence.

She was indicted while the silk strike was going on there in the spring of 1913. She has been tried once under the indictment but the jury disagreed. That was more than two years ago.

The authorities made no move to re-try her until a short time ago when she attempted to make a speech in Paterson at a gathering of workmen and women. The police would not permit her to enter the hall where the meeting was held.

Then Miss Flynn announced her intention to go there to live. The County Prosecutor, as a counter-move, got out the old indictment against her and asked for a re-trial. It is under this indictment that she is up for trial. The refusal of the Paterson police to let Miss Flynn speak there recently stirred up a storm all over the country. Many persons who haven't a great deal of sympathy with the I. W. W. propaganda protested against the violation of Miss Flynn's right to free speech.

Many New York women interested themselves in the free speech campaign, among them Mrs. J. Sergeant Crane, Mrs. Inez Milholland Boesevain, and Miss Henrietta Rodman, the teacher who was suspended by the New York Board of Education because of something she wrote for a newspaper.

Miss Flynn has had a stormy career. She is only about twenty-five. She began her work as a socialist orator at the age of fifteen, while still a high school girl. Her first public speech was in February, 1906, on "What Socialism will do for Women."

Her father was a civil engineer. She was reared in Harlem, New York, and attended Morris Heights High School. She has been arrested more than once for her activity in behalf of strikers and elsewhere.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 1, 1915.

An automobile speed test case of interest here because of the enforcement by the Board of Water Supply police of a 30-mile-an-hour limit on highways built by the City of New York in the Ashokan reservoir region, is being carried up in Nassau county by Thomas N. Rhineland, of the board of directors of the Highway Protective Society. He was fined by a justice of the peace for having driven his automobile at the rate of 35 miles an hour for three-fourths of a mile. On appeal to County Court, Judge Niemann reversed the decision, ruling that such speed on a state highway is not necessarily dangerous to life and property and does not necessarily constitute reckless and imprudent driving. When a machine is operated 30 or more miles an hour, there is a presumption under the law of reckless driving; and the burden of proof that under the circumstances life and property were not endangered is on the driver. If he is called to account. This is the understanding of the law as it has existed for years. On a comparatively clear highway, along which there are few if any houses, a speed of over 30 miles is not reckless or dangerous, while on a highway where there is much traffic a speed of 15 miles an hour may be excessive and attended with grave danger.

The careful motorist is governed in the operation of his car by circumstances, and in this he complies with the spirit if not always the strict letter of the law. The statute is flexible and city ordinances enacted under it by common councils limiting speed to 15 miles are enforced with discretion by the police. Arrests are made as a rule not so much because the limit is exceeded as because the element of recklessness is apparent in the driving. As a matter of fact, traffic in the large cities could not be held down to 15 miles an hour without causing confusion in some streets.

in the number of accidents and serious interference with business. It is not difficult to distinguish reckless driving in the streets and on the highways. The majority of drivers are careful and respect the rights of other users of the roadways. The reckless take chances under the various conditions they encounter and risk their lives and endanger the lives of others.

A New York magistrate has sent to the Secretary of State a list of chauffeurs who have violated the law persistently with the request that they be denied renewal of their licenses. He also has made up a list of offending motor owners who he asks shall be denied license plates for the year beginning February 1 next. If the minority of chauffeurs and owners who make streets and highways perilous are threatened with revocation of their licenses to operate cars, can it be doubted they will be more careful in their driving and regardful of the rights of other drivers and of pedestrians than if they simply were arrested occasionally and reprimanded and fined? By the co-operation of the police, magistrates, local automobile clubs and the Secretary of State, the drastic action planned by the New York judge, which is provided for in the statute, can be made an effective instrument all over the State for stopping reckless drivers, which is claimed, a heavy toll annually.

It is with much interest that we read in a magazine that one E. C. Mercer, formerly a Bowery bum but now a preacher, declares that New York, in which town he admits having been converted, is "the wickedest city going." This comes right on top of a recent assertion by one of our local clergymen that there is great need of "cleaning the Augean stables of the community" here. Those stables, as our readers who are versed in mythology know, were a bad institution, and even Hercules had to divert a couple of rivers and run them through the place to clean it. We cannot bear to think that Kingston is really so bad, and we have our doubts about New York and other cities (comprising all in the country), which we frequently hear of as being totally unregenerate. Perhaps it is a professional duty of preachers to run down their own towns, but we don't believe it. You never hear teachers declare that they live in the most ignorant of cities, nor doctors proclaiming that the death rate where they practice is abnormally large. It would reflect on their professional ability. Kingston is not inhabited exclusively by saints, but we speak from quite a wide knowledge of local conditions elsewhere when we maintain that there are few towns where the general morality and standard of character is so high. As the old poet Heywood says: "It is a fowle bird that flyeth his owne nest."

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo proposes that additional funds for the federal government be raised through new internal taxes and not by the issuance of bonds. However hard up the treasury may be, the Democrats when in control in Washington never give consideration to increasing revenue through the tariff, as they allege this is a form of indirect taxation. But they do not hesitate to impose new internal taxes when necessary, collecting pennies, nickels and dimes from the general public for different commodities and even for express receipts, telephone toll service, the use of the telegraph and other advantages and conveniences. The tariff protects home industries and workers; it provides sufficient funds for the ordinary needs of the government; if it is a form of taxation, it is sound and economic. Democratic indirect taxation protects nothing or nobody. It obtains funds direct from the pockets of the people.

"I heard that your son had become an actor." "Glad to hear it. All I know about it is that he went on the stage."—Baltimore American.
"Won't you take my seat?" said the man in the street-car, as he lifted his hat to the pretty girl. "No, thank you," she replied. "I've been skating all the afternoon, and I'm tired of sitting down."—Puck.
"Have you made up your mind what you will say when you get to congress?" "Yes," replied the statesman. "I intend simply to sit through the roll call and say 'Present!'"—Washington Star.

"Although Chugson has had a car for almost six months, he still seems to think a pedestrian has some rights." "How do you account for that attitude?" "It's very peculiar. It certainly shows a woeful lack of self-confidence."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
Editor—"This is a splendid piece of work—splendid!" Contributor—"Yes?" Editor—"Yes, it's so good that I'm going to send you over to one of our contemporaries with it in hope the editor will buy it and improve the tone of his publication."—Judge.

Love's Labor Lost.
One night four Princeton boys went gayly forth to serenade two belles of the town. Arrived at the house of the fair ones, they took their stand under the correct window, as they thought, and for some time made the night more or less melodious.

They were just preparing to leave when a door opened and the jolly old father of the girls appeared. Had it been light they might possibly have seen a twinkle in his eye.

"Boys," said he, "we are much obliged. That is, I am much obliged, for I happen to be alone tonight. I am sorry to say that the family in New York, but I thank you for coming. Maybe if you come again you'll have better luck. But in the name of old Princeton, boys, if you do come when the girls are here, don't play to the bathroom window."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Boss's Instructions.
The late Curtis Guild, who was a newspaper man long before he was a governor, once told the following anecdote:

"My boy," said the editor of the Billsville Bugle to the new reporter, "you lack caution. You must learn not to state things as facts until they are proved facts—otherwise you are very apt to get us into libel suits. Do not say 'the cashier who stole the funds,' say 'the cashier who is alleged to have stolen the funds.' That's all now, and—ah—turn in a stickful about that Second ward social last night."

Owing to an influx of visitors it was late in the afternoon before the genial editor of the Bugle caught a glimpse of the great family daily. Halfway down the social column his eye lit on the following cautious paragraph:

"It is rumored that a card party was given last evening to a number of reputed ladies of the Second ward. Mrs. Smith, gossip says, was the hostess and the festivities are reported to have continued until 10:30 in the evening. It is alleged that the affair was a social function given to the ladies of the Second Ward Club and that, with the exception of Mrs. James Bilwiger, who says she comes from Leavitt Junction, none but members were present. The reputed hostess insists that coffee and wafers alone were served as refreshments. The Smith woman claims to be the wife of John Smith, the so-called 'Honest Shoe Man,' of No. 315 East State St."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Poor Excuse.
Thomas Mott Osborne, warden of Sing Sing, said at a luncheon in Newport:

"This laying of all one's crimes and transgressions at the door of heredity disgusts me. If we sin, we ourselves are to blame. To blame heredity is false and foolish."

"These heredity blamers are like the chap who said to the dun: 'We can't escape the domination of early-formed habits. In my infancy my parents hired a young unmailed to wheel me about in a baby-coach. And ever since that distant time, alas, I have been pushed for money.'"—New York Times.

To Foreclose Railway Mortgage.
Papers were filed in the county clerk's office at Catskill on Monday for foreclosure of a mortgage given by the Otis Railway Company amounting to $71,000. The action is brought by Joseph M. Knapp as trustee for the bondholders. It is understood that the foreclosure is instituted for the purpose of carrying out effect, if possible, a plan for the sale of the Otis, the Catskill Mountain and the Catskill and Tannersville railroad at the same time so that a consolidation of the roads may be had.

EVERY MAN WAS IN THE RANKS

Company M Makes a Very Creditable Showing at Informal Inspection by Captain Townsend, U. S. A., Tuesday Evening.

Company M made a creditable showing in their regular weekly drill, which was held at the armory Tuesday evening. Captain Meagher had every member of his command in uniform for the informal inspection of the company by Captain Townsend, U. S. A. The local guard took up the minor phases of the military game for the evening's work, which met with the approval of the regular armory officer, who thought well of the schedule of work arranged by Captain Meagher.

The visiting officer gave the local soldiers many instructions, in which they were very attentive, showing that they were members of a company which was always on the alert to learn more about the military game as practiced in the regular armory. Captain Townsend's instructions in bayonet combat or manual of the bayonet was one of the best given to the local guard by any officer. This teaches the soldier how to make effective use of the rifle and bayonet in personal combat.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCarthy and W. Norman Conner motored to Bridgeport Sunday, returning today. The trip was made in Mr. Conner's locomobile.

Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 13, 1915. Editor of The Kingston Freeman.

Dear Sir:—I notice with interest the column in your paper of Saturday evening, November 13, "Storage of Car Really Important." I do not wish to criticize any fellow motorist but as the writer has owned several cars in the past ten years he would like to suggest a few things that have been left out.

When draining the radiator you will sometimes find that the water pump and low spots in the cooling system will still hold water. Some pumps have petcocks on them, others do not. Some people often run the engine a few moments when the water is apparently all out, keeping their hand upon the engine so as to be sure it does not get too hot, then put in a little wood alcohol. Occasionally the walls of cylinders will rust, so put in three petcocks, two or three tabular petrol lubricating oil in each cylinder, turning the engine over by starter or crank—this oil remaining in cylinder will prevent pistons sticking in the spring. Some plated parts which are of iron or steel as the handbrake, shift lever, quadrant and spider of wheel, which are generally plated, if rubbed with commercial vaseline or thick lubricant will prevent their rusting. Another important item that our friend has forgotten is the care of the storage battery—which will freeze if the percentage of acid is not right. I would suggest taking battery to have tested by battery expert and put it in his care for the winter, it may need charging. See that gas is turned off at tank, and if you have a water jacketed carburetor, drain it.

When putting up top do not stretch too tight; put on side curtains, cover car with dust cover if you have one. When repacking gears with grease do not forget the more important item of changing oil in crank case. This, depending on the car, should be done every one or two thousand miles.

A MOTORIST.

Clearly Obtains Counsel.

Pleading he is penniless and unable to hire counsel, William V. Cleary, formerly boss of Haverstraw, under indictment for diverting public funds to his own use, appeared to Justice A. S. Tompkins for the appointment of a lawyer to defend him at his forthcoming trial. Justice Tompkins named George Wyre of Nyack. Frank Comesky, who defended Cleary at his trial for the murder of his son-in-law, Eugene Newman, refused to take any part in the case. Cleary has been unable to obtain $20,000 bail, and will remain in the county jail.

Singing Evangelist Married.

The Tabernacle Baptist Church of Poughkeepsie is making arrangements for special evangelistic meeting during January. They have secured the services of Mrs. E. J. Gealy, the noted Welsh singing evangelist. Mrs. Gealy is better known as Miss Margaret Beavan as her marriage took place only recently after the close of the very successful meetings conducted by her in the Wurts Street Baptist Church.

On Their Honeymoon.

After spending a delightful honeymoon in New York city and Newburgh, Mr. and Mrs. James Gaddis of Lake Katrine, N. Y., arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Benton on North Montgomery street, where they will spend several days, says the Walden Citizen-Herald. Mr. and Mrs. Gaddis were married on Thanksgiving Day by the Rev. R. C. Dodds.

A BEAUTIFUL FROCK.

Deep Shades of Dahlia Are Used to Fashion This Gown.

FOR DRESSY OCCASIONS.

This artistic afternoon frock is made of dahlia colored crepe banded with a deeper shade of raffia. The long tunic tips at the back and is also banded. The simple bodice has touches of hand embroidery and shadow lace to enliven it, and raffia buttons are extended down an inset tab. The soft felt hat completing this pretty costume is trimmed with a band of six big velvet dahlias.

AN ULTRA HAT.

This Chapeau is Both Smart and Serviceable For Winter Wear.

Black velvet, a beaded bird and an ostrich tip are the materials that fashion this beautiful hat. Over a narrow, tilting brim mount folds of the velvet.

FOR MATINEES.

Intersected by needed winds, while a jaunty white plume in the rear falls gracefully over the left side. This is the kind of hat that has both wear and style.

Simple Home Remedies.

For Chapped Hands—Five tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of glycerin and two tablespoonfuls of alcohol.

For Sore Throat—One teaspoonful each of salt, sugar and turpentine in a pint of water. Use as a gargle.

When giving a sick person an alcohol bath make a mitten for your hand out of an old bath towel. It will hold more moisture and be better for rubbing purposes.

A mustard plaster mixed with the white of an egg or vinegar instead of water will not leave a blister.

Velvet Blouses.

Among the dressier blouses those made of velvet are holding a very prominent place. As the material is very heavy, it is usually combined with chiffon, lace or georgette crepe. In some instances the velvet is used to form bib effects. Other blouses are all velvet except for the sleeves. Many children blouses are trimmed with bands of velvet in harmonizing or contrasting color. At any rate, one's wardrobe will not be complete this season unless one has a blouse showing some signs of velvet about it somewhere.

Go to School on Skis.

Sixteen children in western Montana go to school on skis from October to June. The snow is sometimes so deep that the telegraph wires are right beside the children. Willows stuck in the snow mark the trail to and from the school.

PILE OF SERBIAN DEAD.

SERBIA GETS HER DOSE OF "FRIGHTFULNESS."

Not only the men on the firing line, but those in civil life, together with thousands of women and children are dying up their lives as the Teutonic Allies press forward through Serbia. The conditions in the little country south of the Danube are said to be worse than they were in Belgium at the beginning of the war. Death, pestilence and desolation follow in the path of war. Those not killed by bullets are dying of disease and starvation.

Nov. 29th to Dec. 4th Electrical Prosperity Week

The celebration of Electrical Prosperity Week, November 29—December 4, calls your attention to the fact that while the cost of practically everything else has been going up, the cost of electricity has been going down; so that today the low cost of electricity makes it practical for you to use it in an endless variety of ways.

Take electric light, for instance—its cost has been reduced nine-tenths in twenty-five years and at the same time the light has been greatly improved, made more brilliant, more powerful, more universally adaptable.

Celebrate Electrical Prosperity Week by putting in every socket the lamps which give you 3 times the light of the old-style carbon lamps—

JEWISH FESTIVAL OF SONGS AND JOY

The Festival of Hanukkah, takes place on December second (corresponding to the Hebrew date, the twenty-fifth day of Kislev), and lasts eight days. It was established for historic reasons and celebrates the victories of the Maccabees over the Syrians. Antiochus, King of Syria, in the second century before the Common Era, aspired to dominate the countries of the East. He pursued the policy of suppressing all national distinctions and of foisting upon his subjects, in the various countries which had come under his control, the religion and civilization of Syria. This, though Greek in origin, was debased in spirit and practice. The Jews, proud of their traditions and devoted to their pieties and moralities, resented the intrusion and the violence of the Syrian conquerors, who were respecters neither of the conscience nor of the lives of the Jews. Under the leadership of Judas Maccabeus, they made good their loyalty to their faith and homes and met the Syrians on the battlefield. Their defense was valiant and successful, despite the fact that they were few and grappled with a powerful enemy. After signal victories, they achieved their emancipation, and re-affirmed the pious practices of their fathers and, true to the spirit of Judaism, they proceeded at once to the re-dedication of their temple.

A legend says that, at the re-dedication of the temple, a cruse of oil filled every lamp so that the great edifice was resplendent with light. In allusion to this, Jews signalize the festival by lights in their homes, increasing them progressively every evening of the festival week, culminating with eight lights on the eighth. It is the symbolic expression of the truth that self-respect, moral stamina and loyalty spread and en-thuse everybody. Each can be an example and influence for the many.

This revolution brought about also the establishment of the dynasty of the Maccabees, whose achievements during the course of more than a century were epoch making in the history of the Jews.

The Hanukkah Festival is one of the favorites in the Jewish calendar. Besides its high significance for men and women, it is also a children's holiday and the religious schools celebrate it with elaborate festivities and great heartiness. In the homes songs accompany the kindling of the lights and the ritual of the synagogue is enhanced by the recital of selected Psalms. The social amenities of the week are happy and cheerful, and, in accordance with the genial spirit of the festival, comprise entertainment and benevolences in the home and community.

Details of an entertainment to take place at Temple Emanuel on Sunday evening, Dec. 4th, will be published later in the week.

"He DOES -while others lag"

The day's work spreads before you. To some desks the duties come and linger; from others they go with fast dispatch—met and dealt with by a vigorous mind housed in a vigorous body.

It is largely his food that gives a man that tireless power. But how frequently most of us blunder in eating! Food—yes! Balanced food—no!

Every hour, energy and tissue are consumed in the ratio of 5½ units to 1. The foods which build the body in practically this same ratio are rare. But there is one which you can afford and will enjoy with every breakfast.

That is H-O Oatmeal.

The good lady who cooks for you will be glad to know that H-O is the only oatmeal whose fine nourishment is all prepared for assimilation after only 20 minutes' cooking on the kitchen stove.

The reason rests with the exclusive H-O method of selecting oats and steam-cooking them. For over two hours our oats are cooked in sealed cookers. So they come to you almost ready to eat.

Many who first taste H-O are surprised to find such a delicate, delicious flavor. Now that you understand H-O you will not be surprised at this.

Why not suggest it for tomorrow's breakfast?

Fresh, white gloves every morning

(6—Untouched by hands)

Too-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o! The morning whistle sounds. Men and girls are coming to work. What of those who come to the spotless Sterling Kitchens?

They lift down uniforms spic and span—caps that are spotless. They put on fresh laundered gloves of white. All day long these gloves of white keep their hands from touching Sterling Gum.

They work in the bright day—

- 1—Crowded with flavor
- 2—Velvety body—NO GRIT
- 3—Crumble-proof

light—in a factory which is fairly sparkling with broad, high windows. And they are not hemmed in by the walls of other factories. The Sterling factory stands alone.

When you open your packages of Sterling Gum remember that your hands are the first to touch it. And then, perhaps, you'll feel an added pleasure in hunting that 7th Sterling point!

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY

The Elks' memorial services will be held at the lodge rooms, on Sunday afternoon, December fifth, at three o'clock. The committee has arranged an exceedingly interesting program.

The Hon. George A. Hopkins, of New York, will deliver eulogy.

Miss Virginia Log Kamp, contralto, of New York, will render the following selections, accompanied by Kingston Symphony Society Orchestra:

"He shall feed His flock".....Handel
J. E. McCarthy, Tenor, of Kingston will sing, "Absent".....Metcalf

Factory For Marlborough.

W. H. Rogers, of Plainfield, N. J., has been in Marlborough trying to raise enthusiasm in a plan to establish a silver plated ware factory. At present his goods are manufactured at Norfolk, Va., but they cannot be supplied fast enough, hence the idea of starting a factory of his own. The "button shop" building, last occupied by the Smith, Gray & Co., seems adapted for such a factory, and Mr. Rogers is willing to finance the buying of the building. He has secured for $5,000 worth of the preferred stock in the company which he proposes organizing. At the start the factory would employ from thirty to forty hands.

Select Delegates at Primary.

The delegates to the national conventions of next summer are to be selected at the spring primary to be held on the first Tuesday in April. The election law provides that the rules of each political party "may prescribe that the delegates and alternates shall be elected from congressional districts, but such rules shall not provide for the election of more than four delegates and four alternates from the state at large." Mentioned as members of the "Big Four" from this state to the Republican convention are Governor Whitman, United States Senator Wadsworth, Elihu Root, Nicholas Murray Butler and William Barnes.

The Locomotive's Centenary.

The fact that this is the centenary year of the invention of the railroad locomotive has been called to the attention of railroad men by several of the companies by the issuance of circulars showing something of the history of the locomotive. Reference is also made to the world's biggest engine, the Matt H. Shay of the Erie railroad. Its weight is 410 tons and its length 105 feet. It is said to have hauled 251 gondola cars fully loaded. Billy No. 1, George Stephenson's original locomotive made 100 years ago, could be put in the water tank of the Shay.

Long Motorcycle Journey.

To see the wonders of the western country, William E. and Walter D. Kellogg, father and son, left Middletown June 11 last on a five months tour with a 1915 motorcycle and sidecar, which tour has just been completed. They have been in 23 states and one foreign country, visited 750 cities and towns, crossed the country to the Pacific coast, gone as far south as Tia Juana, Mex., traveled north the length of the coast to Washington and returned home by way of the northerly lake routes. Their total mileage was more than 12,000 miles.

Injured Man Taken Home.

Fred Gans, who has been in the Nyack Hospital for several months, suffering from a broken back, was taken to his home at Highland on Monday in an auto ambulance, accompanied by his father and sister. Gans was injured while driving into a barn at Spring Valley, when by the jouncing of the wagon his back struck against the beam above the door. His condition has not improved and there is said to be no chance for his recovery.

Postal Savings Large.

From Washington the Kingston post office officials have received a report showing an increase in postal savings deposits in the United States for October of $2,150,000. This is one of the best monthly records made by the institution since it was established. Postal savings on Oct. 31, 1915, amounted to $71,500,000, divided among 552,600 accounts.

Would Aid Large Families.

"Whenever a husband and wife give to the state a number of healthy children beyond their means of providing support the commonwealth should help by direct aid or by insurance of life, health and labor," said Dr. Abram Jacobi, who addressed the congregation at the Free synagogue in Carnegie hall, New York city, Sunday.

Putting in Fulton's Coal.

Two thousand tons of coal are being placed in the pockets at the Day line pier in Poughkeepsie for use of the Robert Fulton next summer. Although all the other boats of the line stop at that city this is the only one that takes coal there. The coal is brought here in barges and unloaded by a large crane.

Shorter Day at Elevator Plant.

Notice has been posted in the Yonkers plant of the Otis Elevator Company, where 3,999 hands are employed, that beginning January 1 the help will be allowed a fifty-hour working week instead of fifty-four hours, as now. They will be paid the same rate of wages as at present.

Threw Gasoline on Fire.

Elbert Teed of Mount Kisco was burned badly and will probably die as a result of throwing a pailful of gasoline on a blazing awning on William Fisher's store, in that village, in the hope of putting out the blaze.

THAT INTENSIVE HEN

The Hen laid an egg and cackled her head off;
The Goose laid an egg and never opened her head.
Do you ever have a call for a goose egg?
Moral: Sell Advertised Goods.

And it might be added to this time honored philosophy that the hen is an intensive Advertiser.

She does her cackling in the vicinity of the egg and does not try to cover the continent with one faint squawk.

She disposes of her goods at the most convenient market—seeking the short cut from production to demand.

If she used the printed word she would be a constant newspaper advertiser.

WHY DRY
CLEANING
IS BEST

Life of Lace Curtains is Shortened When They Are Washed and Stretched.

Dry cleaning is not dry at all. It is simply a cleaning process where water is not used. When lace curtains, for instance, are sent to the professional cleaner he washes them in a bath of gasoline to which has been added a gasoline soluble soap. The latter, when added to gasoline, removes all the dirt from the curtains just as ordinary soap in water would do.

Lace curtains when dry cleaned do not require difficult and tedious ironing or pressing or stretching upon frames, which is necessary when washed with soap and water. For this reason the life of lace curtains is very materially prolonged when they are dry cleaned.

We send your Curtains away to be cleaned.

Our Line of Lace Curtains

is so large and so varied that it would be vain to attempt to describe to you in detail. But we certainly want you to know that the excellent showing will meet with your enthusiastic approval. Moreover, we desire to assure you that our prices mean to you a general average saving of about 25 per cent. Do drop in and see the line. You will see almost every style of Lace Curtain made at prices from 50 cents to $25.00.

Nothing adds greater charm to the home than appropriate curtains and draperies. The new madras ready-made curtains and materials by the yard will satisfy and give the home that cheery, comfy atmosphere.

Draperies of every kind—all ready to hang or materials to make them—in a great variety. Seldom are you offered such tempting buying inducements. Thrifty buyers will surely take advantage of such an opportunity.

SEEKING ROCK FOR BRIDGE FOUNDATION

Solid Rock Found Under Island Dock at Depth of 60 Feet—Quicksand on Esopus Shore Causes Change to be Made.

The Germantown concern that has the contract for drilling down seeking rock on which to place the foundation of the piers for the bridge across the Rondout creek struck rock this morning at a depth of sixty feet on the Island Dock. From that could be learned the work of seeking rock on the Sleightsburgh side of the creek has been finished. The men while at work on the other side of the creek went down a few feet and struck quicksand. This necessitated moving to a point fifty feet above, where solid rock was struck after the drill had gone down eighteen feet. This will probably mean that the Sleightsburgh end of the bridge will have to be moved up the creek fifty feet further and that the bridge will cross the creek at a slight slant. It will not, however, change the location of the approach on the Rondout side.

It was thought some time ago that the bids for erecting the bridge would be submitted about this time but undoubtedly bids will not be asked for until this concern has finished its work and it is positively known just how far down the foundations will have to be laid for the piers and this will not be known until the work of drilling is finished.

A MADAGASCAR BANQUET.

Where the Riot of Food Vied With the Riot of Tumult.

The longest and noisiest dinner that James Sibley, Jr., the author of "A Naturalist in Madagascar" ever attended was given by the governor of a town called Ankarama. About a score of officers were at the table and seven ladies. After a long grace by the pastor, dinner was brought in and consisted of the following courses:

First, curry; second, goose; third, pigeons and waterfowl; fourth, chicken cutlets and poached eggs; fifth, beef sausages; sixth, boiled tongue; seventh, sorghum; eighth, pig's trotters; ninth, fried bananas; tenth, pancakes; eleventh, manioc; twelfth, dried bananas; and lastly, says Mr. Sibley, when I thought everything must have been served, came hunches of roast beef.

There was a big drum just outside on the veranda, as well as two small ones, besides clarinets and fiddles, and these were in full play almost all the time. Then the room was filled by a crowd of servants and aids-de-camp, and the shouting of every one, from the governor down, was deafening. The old gentleman directed everything and every one. I was glad when I could take my leave, after two hours sitting, but I was not to leave quietly. The governor took me by the hand and escorted me home, while the big drum was hammered at ahead of us all the way.—Youth's Companion.

CROSS COUNTRY SUFFRAGISTS TO PRESENT PETITION TO WILSON.

(Miss Frances Joliffe and Mrs. Sara Bard Field.)
New York, Dec. 1.—After traveling all the way from San Francisco to New York in an automobile and gathering 500,000 signatures to a suffrage petition, Miss Frances Joliffe and Mrs. Sara Bard Field are preparing to leave for Washington where they will present the petition to President Wilson on December 3.
Miss Joliffe, who hails from California and Mrs. Field whose home is in Oregon, made the trans-continental trip in a little less than two months.

"So, you want more money, do you?" remarked the stern parent. "Why don't you go to work? You never earned a cent in your life." "Why, father, how you do talk!" rejoined the young man. "I'm sure no one ever worked harder than I do in trying to get a dollar out of you now and then."

Possible Beneficiary.
"What is the trouble with this telephone?" said the grumpy person. "Every time I want to talk to somebody the line is busy." "Well," replied the patient friend. "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good. Maybe it's lucky for the party you were going to talk to."

Proof Wanted.
It was 11:59 p. m. by the little premium clock on the mantel. "Yawn," said young Sapleigh. "The fellows all say I'm a dreadfully easygoing chap—don'tcher know?" "Really!" said Miss Cutting, trying to strangle a yawn. "Well, you may be, but I don't believe it."

That the people of Ulster county are interested in waging a winning war against tuberculosis is shown by the fact that more than 50,000 Red Seals were bought before December came in. The exact number for which returns had been received up various parts of the county, this fig-

Tuesday's returns showed a sale of Remittances continued to pour in from the seals sent out on approval.

As before, many of these received
Tuesday were for amounts greater than a dollar. The committee has discovered that in a few instances the seals that were not included in the letters sent out. They state that they will appreciate information regarding any of these cases and will send the seals promptly to those whose letters did not contain them.
They have made a record of all such instances reported thus far. It is but natural that where so many letters were sent out occasional errors should creep in.

The following is a list of those who have purchased 500 or more seals:

ily, Mrs. Elizabeth DeWitt and Mrs.
Annie Hornbeck of Leibhardt.

A number from this place attended the entertainment and social port a very enjoyable time and the entertainment fine.

Put Yourself in Their Places.

Too ill to go about, and confined day after day with others as ill or more so than oneself! Strong enough to read until one hates the very sight of a book. Having tried out all the puzzles until one can do them with ones eyes closed! Now and then a consoling, but not always stimulating visitor to put one in touch with the outside world!
Put yourself in such a place, and then realize as never before, the inestimable value of any form of entertainment that can be given at Tuberculosis Camp. Realize the pleasure if some patient is enough of a musician to cheer things up with a little music, or if some visitor will sing or play a bit. Think it all over, and then whether you, yourself are musical or not, attend the fine recital to be given at Holy Cross Church next Tuesday evening,
December 7th, at eight o'clock.
Your silver contribution will not only ring musically in the contribution box, but it will mean actual music for the Tuberculosis Camp patients.

No Fun for Him.

"I never see that monkey sky-larking," remarked a man who understood monkey language. "I never see him swinging by the tail or having fun of any sort." "Oh, that monkey has accumulated 3,000,000 cocoanuts," explained an old chimpanzee. "He has to spend all his time watching 'em.
He can't have any fun."

FORD SENDS CABLE DISPATCH TO POPE

New York, Dec. 1.—A cablegram sent to Pope Benedict XV asking the pontiff's good will and co-operation in Henry Ford's peace crusade was made public at the Ford headquarters here today. It follows:

"To his Holiness, Pope Benedict XV.

"Realizing the high and holy interest you, as the supreme pontiff of the church, have in adding to the present carnage, may I announce to you the peace mission on which we are approaching Europe."

"Believing this is a world situation in which international forces must unite, I have planned a conference of neutrals to adopt means and action for ending the most frightful war since history began."

"For fifteen months the people have waited for governments to act; waited for the governments to lead Europe out of the unspeakable agony and suffering and to prevent Europe's destruction. Meanwhile millions of men on the battlefields are dead."

"Humanity owes it to millions more who are being led like cattle to the slaughter to prevent the slaughter. If the Christianity of our boasted twentieth century civilization stands for the principle the great principle of peace enunciated this can be accomplished."

"There is no nation that has not declared it does not want this war. We believe there is no nation that does not at heart ardently long for peace. But the warring nations cannot find it, neutral nations must find a way."

"We are therefore planning a mediating conference. Men and women from America who believe in international disarmament are sailing on the peace ship Oscar II of the Scandinavian-American line, leaving New York December 1. The delegation proceeds to Christiania where Norway's valiant sons and daughters join the crusade. In Stockholm the ship's company will be reinforced by agents of Sweden's people."

"The crusade will go to Stockholm, thence proceeding to the Hague. We hope to meet delegations from Switzerland and Scandinavia among the gathering will be selected delegates to sit in an international conference in a neutral capital to formulate terms of peace to present to the belligerent governments."

"For this undertaking most holy Father, we bespeak your good will and co-operation."

(Signed) "HENRY FORD"

Results of the recent police census of New York city show that the city has 5,253,888 inhabitants in the five boroughs but not including Rikers Island, Ward's, Hart's, Governor's, Randall's or Rikers Islands, as against the total of 5,009,112 reported at the completion of the city census in July.

Vassar Fund $850,000.

Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, has already secured $850,000 toward the million dollar endowment fund to be raised by October. In an address to the student body President Henry Noble MacCracken made known this fact. "The college is not a beggar," he said. "We are not asking you to divert one penny from charities." Of the fund $300,000 will go toward an increase in the salaries of the faculty.

President W. H. Smith of the New York Central says that if certain commodities continue to accumulate in the port of New York faster than steamships can take them away it will be necessary for the Central and West Shore railroads to declare an embargo.

Uniform Crossing Signs.

George A. Ricker, former first deputy highway commissioner, urges a better standardization of signs at railroad crossings. "There are in use many varieties of railroad crossing signs," he says, "and study should be given to the best form of sign and its standardization."

MRS. BIRD DENIES HUSBAND'S STORY

Though Mrs. Gussie Bird made no defense of the divorce suit instituted against her by William H. Bird, now of Westchester county, when the case came before Supreme Court Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck in his chambers on Saturday, she has made a statement denying the allegations of witnesses who were examined at the hearing. Mr. and Mrs. Bird were married in Hurley, this county in 1897 and the latter in his action alleged his wife deserted him eight years ago and now is living with their children with a man named Siebert Barley on North Front street, Kingston.

The accused woman said today that her husband deserted her, not she him, while they were living in Staten Island in 1908. She declares she had to appeal to the court in Stapleton to obtain support for her children, and subsequently the rector of St. John's Church there sent her and the children to relatives in Kingston.

Mrs. Bird says she has not lived with the man named in her husband's complaint but has worked to support her children. She makes a charge against her husband, naming a woman of Passaic, N. J.

United States "Timid."

"A nation too timid to protect its own men, women and children from murder and outrage and too timid even to speak on behalf of Belgium, will not carry much weight by protest or insistence on behalf of the suffering Jews and Armenians," says Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in a letter to Dr. Samuel P. Dutcher, secretary of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief.

State Board Blamed For Fire.

The State Industrial Commission was found to be "inefficient" and "guilty of neglect" by a coroner's jury Tuesday in Brooklyn at the inquest into the Diamond candy factory fire in which twelve lives were lost November 6. The jury requested that copies of its findings be submitted to Governor Whitman.

Traffic Over Bridge Heavy.

An idea of the heavy freight movement over the Central New England Railway is shown by figures indicating an average of 2,000 freight cars daily moving over the Poughkeepsie bridge, the greatest number since it was built. On Monday between 2,300 and 2,400 cars passed through Poughkeepsie.

Deer Swims the Hudson.

At Monday's session of the board of supervisors the sum of $15,500 was appropriated for the maintenance of the County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Newburgh, for the coming year.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

A GOOD way to break oneself from the habit of spending nickels and dimes needlessly is to put the sum aside when one is tempted to spend and watch it mount up. In this way one has a fund to draw upon when things really needed are to be got at a bargain, and the money will never be missed. Also there will probably be a sum worth while, so that one can lay in a stock of the needed articles instead of purchasing one or two with the small available sum.

There is an economy in buying a stock. For instance, two pairs of stockings will not last nearly one-third the time six pairs will wear, and the same with lingerie, household linens and footwear. The service is greatly prolonged by keeping up a number of these.

If the young housekeeper will try this method of saving the pennies she will never break the habit. It will be such a pleasure to know there is a little nest egg that can be spent without being missed. If there is nothing specially to be bought the sum could furnish the cost of a little outing or the table for a luncheon party, providing little luxuries which otherwise might have seemed extravagant.

A SKILLFUL JOB.

How to Draw Poultry For Your Holiday Dinners.

Cleaning chickens is one of the things that even the green cook and the young housekeeper are supposed to know. Here are directions:

Make an incision in the breast of the fowl, take out the crop loosely the windpipe and the other stringy tubes.

Put a slit across the lower between the legs and the tail, slip in the hands, fingers curved upward, catch the entrails at the upper end and draw out the entire mass slowly, so as not to break the gall—the little green sack, which if crushed will give a bitter taste to everything that it touches.

Take out the liver and heart, wash and put away. Cut the gizzard open, tear out the lining, wash and scrape it thoroughly and put it away. Cut out all the pieces of fat found among the entrails, wash them and use them for larding the fowl when roasting. Cut out the oil sack in the tail.

If the chicken has to be plucked as well the easiest way is to dip it several times in boiling water. This loosens the feathers so they can be scraped off quickly, but it also toughens the meat, and by far the better way is to dry pick the chicken by hand, scraping the feathers out with a knife where they are easy to loosen and pulling them out by hand where they stick and are liable to tear the skin.

How to Make a Boudoir Cap of Fillet Lace.

There seems to be an endless variety of uses to which fillet crochet can be applied. A large square of this crochet could be made into a very charming boudoir cap. A square with a rose pattern would be very pretty, although the extremely conventional designs are equally good.

The square should be made with fifty or sixty cotton net, as it will be more attractive if the mesh is not too fine. A picot edging may be added to the edge of the square, or it can merely be finished with two rows of the plain mesh.

When making this cap a casing is stitched around the inside of the square, forming a circle by eliminating the corners. An elastic is run through the casing; then the corners are wired with fine millinery wire so as to make them stand out. The front and back corners are slightly rolled over the crown. The points of the corners at each side are turned back. The effect is very much the same as a Normandy cap, but being made of fillet crochet it is very quaint and unusual.

How to Clean Ostrich Feathers at Home Without Much Effort.

Coil the feathers up so as to be able to get them in a half gallon jar, pour in a quart of gasoline and screw on the cover. Shake gently back and forth about a dozen times. Take out the feathers, shake well and put into an airy place to dispel the odor of the gasoline. If they are not clean enough repeat the process. This does not take the curl out of the feathers. To curl draw the little strands over the edge of a blunt silver butter knife. You can hold them over heat also when sure none of the gasoline odor remains, which brings out the fluffiness of the feathers and will cause the ends to curl up. Never use gasoline indoors where there is danger of contact with heat or flame.

How to Shrink Gingham Before You Cut Them.

To shrink gingham lay the cloth in a large tub of lukewarm soft water to which a handful of salt has been added. Care must be taken to place the cloth in the original folds. Let it soak until the folds are thoroughly wet through, then remove from the tub and without wringing pin to a line in the open air. It will dry perfectly smooth, and the color will not run.

SUMMER BASEBALL TAKES TOO MUCH TIME

Harry LeGore, Star Football Player, Who, Together With Four Other Members of Yale Team, Got Into Trouble This Fall on Account of Summer Baseball.

That summer baseball is undesirable, not because of the "taint" of professionalism but because it would mean that the players would devote too much time to the game, is the argument against summer ball in the current number of the Harvard Alumni Bulletin.

Boyd says that the baseball squad now puts in the entire afternoon during the greater part of the college year. With summer baseball permitted, he contends, prospective candidates for the team will be encouraged to play summer ball by way of improving their chances of making the team. This he considers too great an expenditure of time that might well be devoted to other objects. Boyd writes, in part:

The endless discussion of "summer baseball" is rendered all the more tiresome because the real point at issue is usually missed. It is not a matter of social distinction, nor is it even a question of tearing down the fence between the amateur and professional paddocks. The real danger is that if "summer baseball" or any form of it should be allowed, it would soon be considered desirable. Under the pressure of intercollegiate competition, members of the baseball squad would soon come to feel an implied obligation to devote their summers to the game in order to insure victorious teams. This situation would be a scandal in itself, and the cause of endless dissatisfaction.

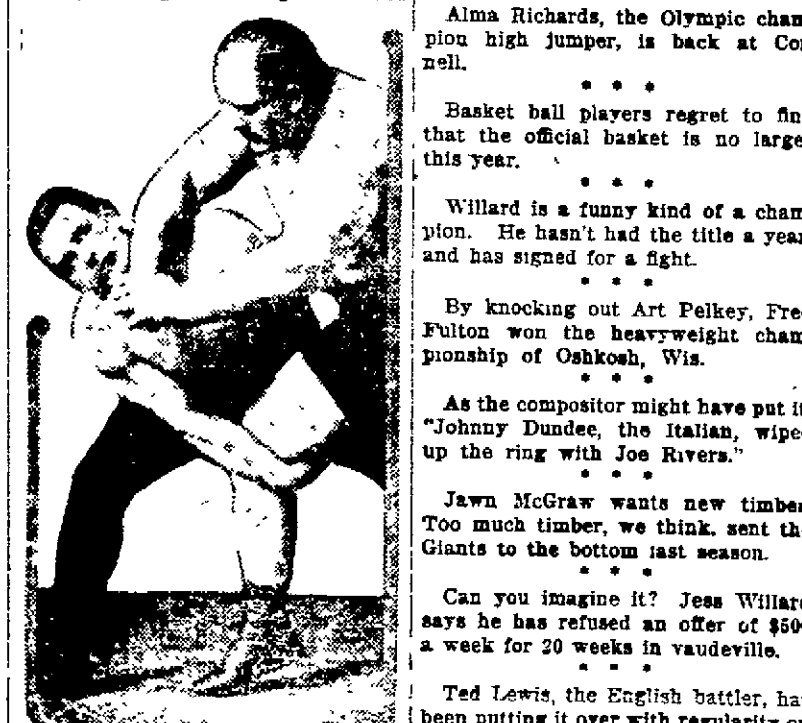

Even now baseball requires more time from its devotees than any other university sport. It is true, track and crew athletes are in training as long as baseball men, but their work requires only a few minutes at the end of the afternoon, which is merely what the busiest undergraduate should set aside every day for physical exercise. Baseball demands most of the afternoons for half the college year, not counting time given to fall practice. To encourage students to prolong their baseball service several months further, each year would be unpardonable.

They might better attend Plattsburgh, to learn that they have a common enemy.

ZBYSKO TRIES BAKED APPLE

Big Polish Wrestler Ate Nine of Them. Then Eight Boiled Eggs, Toast, Chops and Potatoes.

Stanislaus Zbyszko and Yankee Rogers, wrestlers, were coming out of Montreal one wintry morning, says an exchange. The two members of the grapple profession strolled into the dining car together. Rogers ordered some baked apples—that is, perhaps, one. Zbyszko was much interested. "What is that, Mr. Rogers?" asked the big Polish wrestler, who always speaks in a very formal manner.

"That's a baked apple," replied the Buffalo wrestler.

It was the first time Zbyszko had ever seen a baked apple in his life. "Mr. 'Walter, I'll try one," said Zbyszko.

The big Pole ate nine baked apples, eight boiled eggs, three orders of toast, some chops and several orders of potatoes.

POULTRY PICKINGS.

If the chicks have been properly cared for during the hot summer months they should make an excellent showing now. Chicks hatched in September, if properly grown, will give excellent chickens for frying after the holidays. There will be a good demand for them.

Provide new runs for the ducks and sow the old runs to rye. This will keep on growing during the fall and winter and not only furnish green food, but kill all impurities that may be in the soil.

The best stroke of genius any man can show just now is to sort out every old hen and sell her.

An ear of corn broken once or twice and thrown out for the hens to work at does them a lot more good than giving them ready shelled corn.

PIGEON KEEPING FOR SQUAB RAISING

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Many varieties of grains are used in feeding pigeons. A good mixture of staple grains may be made of equal parts by weight of cracked corn, hard red wheat, Kaffir corn and Canada peas, with a small quantity (10 per cent) of hemp and millet seed added during the molting period. Other grains which may be substituted for or added to these are oats or hulled oats, buckwheat, Egyptian corn, barley, cowpeas and milo maize, while a small quantity of ity of stale bread, rice, rape, millet, canary, vetch and sunflower seed may be fed for variety. Canada peas are expensive, but seem to be essential to the best results, especially during the breeding season, and apparently take the place of green feed to some extent. Green feed, such as clover, alfalfa and grass, lettuce and plantain leaves, may be fed to advantage, but is not absolutely essential.

A variety of good, hard grains is essential to success, and grains which are in poor condition should not be fed. Old grains which are hard are better than new soft grains, especially for pigeons with squabs. Red wheat is considered better than white wheat by many pigeon breeders. Good wheat screenings are often fed with success, as they usually contain a variety of seeds. Various stimulating seeds, such as lentils and vetch, are sometimes fed as a tonic to breeding birds during the molting period.

The grain may be fed on the floor of the pen in troughs or kept before the birds in hoppers. It is not generally considered advisable to feed the grain on the ground, especially on heavy soil where it may get wet and moldy. Unless the floor is kept clean it is better to feed the grain in troughs than on the floor. The troughs should be made so that the pigeons will not roost on them and soil the feed with their droppings. Hoppers are used with good success, but may attract rats in some pigeon houses. They should be fitted with wires or nails about two inches apart so that the pigeons cannot waste the feed by throwing it out on to the floor. If the grain is not fed in hoppers the pigeons should be fed twice daily—in the morning and in the afternoon—at regular hours, giving from one and one-half to two quarts of grain at each meal to twenty pairs of pigeons and adding an extra pint if the pigeons have many squabs. As pigeons feed their squabs on their own pigeon milk for ten days, it is important that they get plenty of grain during this time. The feeder must regulate the quantity of grain according to the appetite of the birds, giving them all they will clean up in one to two hours. The cost of feeding a pair of pigeons varies from $1 to $1.50 a year at the present price of grain.

Clear drinking water, grit, broken oyster shell and charcoal should be kept before the pigeons all the time. Salt is fed to pigeons in various forms, and a supply of this material is generally considered essential. Pigeons not accustomed to eating fine salt are apt to eat too much if given a large quantity at one time, although fine salt is used with good success by many careful feeders. Salt may be fed in a lump form, such as rock salt or as fine salt moistened and baked into a hard lump without danger of the pigeons eating too much. Salt may also be fed mixed with grit, charcoal and oyster shell.

Cull the Poultry Flock.

Cull out all your unprofitable fowls. Remember that a small flock of layers is better than a large flock of loafers.

An Abstainer.

"I promised my wife never to use tobacco in any form," said Mr. C. J. "And have you kept your word?" "Yes. Her views have changed. I don't like the idea of mother and the girls smoking afternoon cigarettes and I've got to set a good example."

MOVING SCHWAB HOME AT LORETO, PA.

SCHWAB SPARES TREES IN MOVING HOUSE.

(Residence of Charles M. Schwab, at Loreto, Pa., being moved over the trees that surround it.) Loreto, Pa., Dec. 1.—There is a real sentiment in trees to Charles M. Schwab, especially those trees which have sheltered his fine old homestead, called "Immergosa," in Loreto.

Recently Mr. Schwab decided to build a new $1,000,000 summer residence on the site of the old home, but he did not want to destroy the beautiful frame house which has been more home to him than ever his mansion on Riverside drive, New York. The house is entirely surrounded by trees and to move it was not to destroy the trees was no negotiable obstacle to the man who has made Bethlehem stock out for him a plan which sacrifice a very few trees.

"I would not think of cutting down these trees," said Mr. Schwab. "All you have to do is pack the house over the trees. It is only that."

So the engineers got busy and are moving the old Schwab residence over the trees. By route being taken, the house goes over three thousand feet before it will reach the road. The maximum height the house will be jacked over is thirty feet. It then starts on its journey across a deep valley on the Schwab farm, where it will find a new resting place. It will travel 1.900 feet from its present location and will crown a little hill.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

DECEMBER 1

If this is your birthday, the present year will bring many unexpected changes, so if you have money, make safe investments; if you own property, do not part with it heedlessly. Examining all titles and deeds and watch insurances in which you are interested.

The sign of this birthday is Sagittarius, meaning the Archer. This gives a direct method of dealing with people and business which sometimes amounts to a cruel blunt-ness.

The planet governing this birthday is the Sun, hence the nature is warm, ardent in affection, but sometimes fickle in love affairs.

This person proves a good friend, has clear judgment and is reliable in business. Happiest marriages will be made with one having a birthdate falling in the first two weeks of February.

Renting and selling of new houses and stores by The Freeman Want Ads will bring profitable results during the coming two weeks.

SOCIETY NOTES

Markie-Terry.

Miss Mabel Edna Terry of this city and Raymond Markie of Accord were married at the parsonage of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church on Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. George M. Cranston.

D. A. R. Meeting.

All members of Willetts Chapter, D. A. R., are reminded of the annual meeting which will be held tomorrow at 3 o'clock at the Chapter House. This will be a particularly important meeting and will be preceded by a joint meeting of the retiring and newly elected board at 2 o'clock.

Schonger-Mans.

Miss Anna Schonger of 220 Wall street, Kingston, and John Maus of Troy, N. Y., were united in marriage by the Rev. Preston Hunter, in Middletown, N. Y., Sunday, November 28. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Decker of that city.

Special Federation Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs held at the Federation House on Saturday afternoon of this week, when there will be given informal reports of the recent meeting of the State Federation held at Syracuse. A social hour will also be enjoyed and all members of the Federation are urged to be present.

Kijkuit Club Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Kijkuit Club of St. John's Church, held last evening at the parish house, the members of the club helped in making flowers for the coming Butternut Ball, and during the evening completed a goodly number of Dutch tulips. Judging from the club name, plans were also made by the young ladies, for the giving of a really "Merry Christmas" to a family whose Christmas might be less merry without their aid.

Reinhardt-Holmes.

Anthony Reinhardt of No. 383 Abel street and Miss Catherine Holmes of Down street were united in marriage this afternoon at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. John J. Ekeby. Peter Reinhardt, a brother of the groom, was the best man and Miss Ella Finnerty was bridesmaid. The bride wore a traveling suit of black while the bridesmaid was gowned in blue. After a honeymoon trip through the western part of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt will reside at No. 383 Abel street. Both bride and groom have a host of friends who wish them a long and prosperous married life.

Lowell Club.

The Lowell Club met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brigham. The afternoon's program opened with a roll call, "Irish Scholars." Mrs. Deyo had the paper for the day, her subject being, "Schools and Colleges of Ireland." Mrs. Lewis gave a reading, "Irish Spinning wheel, and an occasional reading, "An Irish Christmas Story," was given by Mrs. Everett. Mrs. Harold Brigham favored the club with the Irish song, "Mush, Mush," and other appropriate selections. The club was reminded of the Maria Sanford lecture on "The Life, Character and Works of Whittier and Lowell," to be given on Friday evening of this week at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, and also of the special meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at the Federation House on Saturday afternoon of this week. This meeting will be social in character and informal reports will be given of the recent state federation meeting. The Lowell Club will meet next week with Mrs. Deyo.

No More Is It Louis Skit.

Louis Skit, a chauffeur, 22 years old, obtained permission to change his name to Louis Davis through Justice Giegerich, in the supreme court; New York, recently. He said that his friends called him "Klueck," "Nutt" and "Mutt" at times almost provoking him "into physical strife."

Armored Train for State.

Anonymous donors have provided a fund of $150,000 for the purchase of the first armored train to be used by the National Guard of this state. An item of $20,000 for maintenance of such a train is included in the appropriation schedules submitted in the tentative budget of General Louis W. Stotesbury.

Much Work in Shipyard.

The Pennsylvania coal dock ship yard near Newburgh is now very busy and men are making full time. New boats are being built by the company and others are being repaired and fitted out. Large quantities of lumber were unloaded at the company's dock this fall to be used in the work at the shipyard.

DIED.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, Dec. 1.—Although trading was quiet this morning and changes in the first fifteen minutes were nearly all toward higher levels. There were a number of issues that sold ex-dividend, among them Union Pacific and Great Northern Ore. The first sales of Union Pacific were at 13 1/2, unchanged with the 2 per cent dividend off, and in the next few minutes it advanced to 13 3/4. Steel common rose 1/4 to 17 1/4 and American Smelting 1/4 to 9 1/4.

The urgent buying of sugar was responded to with an upturn of a point in American Beet Sugar. Many specialties were prominent. Sears-Roebuck moved up 3/4 to 17 1/4, Texas Company 1/4 to 21 1/4 and Cuban American Sugar 1/4 to 17 1/4. Baldwin Locomotive gained 1/4 to 11 1/4. The only exception to the display of strength was Utah Copper which opened 1/4 lower at 7 1/4, but rallied to 7 3/4. Goodrich Rubber improved 1/4 to 7 1/4.

Trading was quiet during the late forenoon. United States Industrial Alcohol, after advancing to 13 1/4, reacted to 12 1/2, under realizing sales. Sears-Roebuck was strong, selling at 17 1/4, a gain in all of 4 1/4 points. A net gain of 2 points was noted in Baldwin Locomotive, which sold at 11 1/4. Steel common sold around 16 1/4. Money lending at 1 1/4 per cent.

The sugar stocks, which have been prominent for the past few days suddenly weakened in the late afternoon. Cuban-American Sugar which sold as high as 17 1/4 earlier, declined to 15 1/4. South Porto Rico declined from 16 1/4 to 15 1/4 and American Sugar sold down to 11 1/4. A long 1/4. American Beet Sugar declined to 7 1/4. The rest of the list showed concessions on small deals.

The market closed heavy. Speculative liquidation and bear selling caused continued recessions in the last hour. United States Industrial Alcohol fell to 12 1/2 against 12 3/4 earlier in the day. Cuban American Sugar, after its break, rallied from 15 1/4 to 16 1/4 and then reacted to 16 1/4 on small trading. Distillers lost a point. Steel common yielded 1/4 to 16 1/4. Fractional losses occurred in the other leading industrials and important railway issues. Government bonds unchanged; other bonds strong.

MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Tom Shevlin came from out the west.
The trumpets blared his way.
Tom Shevlin's gone back to the west
And probably to stay.
Tom Shevlin's praise rang through the land,
After that Princeton game
Tom Shevlin's team played Haughton's band
And gone is Tommy's fame.

Those Yale folks were blinded to the fact that Yale triumphed over Princeton not because Yale played real football but because Princeton played the most weird game ever staged by a Tiger eleven. They overlooked the fact that the most amazing luck, added to Princeton's blundering, was the only thing that enabled Yale to slip through to victory.

And so they boasted about what they'd do to Harvard and they bet on their team—and the score was Harvard, 41; Yale, 0.

Jeff Smith is claiming middle-weight championship. He points to his record as substantiating his claim. The record he dispenses shows that he has scored something like 20 knockouts, won about 21 other bouts in decision, never was knocked down or out and lost only two fights—one on a foul, the other via the decision route.

"Also," asserts Smith's press agent, "Jeff knocked out Les Darcy in five rounds."

College youths who enter the big league ranks these days are accepted by the veterans without the necessity of submitting to "initiation" ceremonies. They termed them "singles," ignored them, made life miserable for them generally, and usually broke the spirit of most of the college boys who really have enough ability to hold down regular jobs if they had been given a little assistance by their team mates.

A New Wrinkle.

The White Sox have just imported a pitcher from the Louisville club who operates a "winkie ball." First rubs the seams of the ball very vigorously on his pants, which causes the threads to wear bare. Then he digs his finger nails through the thread, which gives him a fine grip on the ball. The result is a baffling twist.

Wrestling tournament is being perpetrated in New York. That just goes to show the laxity of the police.

Heinie the Zim continues to insist that he will not play with the Giants if traded. This proves the contention of Heinie's friends that he is a brainy person.

Jess Willard is to get $32,500 for fighting somebody in New Orleans in March. After deliberating over the matter with great solemnity, we have concluded that we'd fight anybody for half that amount if we were guaranteed that all funeral expenses would be paid.

Just about 123 days more and then—

"St-r-r-ike the-r-ec; you'r-r-e out."

Whereupon:

"You're a liar, you're a robber."

War Autos Pass Through.

Nearly every day the past week carloads of automobiles have passed through Kingston on the West Shore railroad, bound for New York city, to be placed aboard ocean liners and shipped to Great Britain. The automobiles come from the White Automobile Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and are presumably for war use of the allies.

JOHN J. MCEWAN.

TO LEAD THE ARMY TEAM NEXT YEAR.

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 1.—While still jubilant over the victory over the Navy team on Saturday, the Army football squad elected John J. McEwan, the giant center, captain of next year's team.

McEwan was selected for All-American center last year by several sporting writers and will undoubtedly be selected by some this year. Outside of Oliphant, McEwan was the greatest asset that the Army team had this year.

The big roving center is a member of the second class and next year will be his last at the Military Academy. He has played on Army teams for three years.

POLICE PUT BAN
ON AIR RIFLES

The law in regard to air rifles is to be enforced in Kingston by the police and unless its provisions are complied with there will be arrests made within the near future. Under Section 1,896 of the penal law children are not allowed to have or handle air rifles and parents are forbidden to give their children one. It has been reported to the police that recently one young lad had a narrow escape from losing his eye when hit by a bullet from one of the rifles. Lately it has been noticed that a number of children have been seen with air rifles in the city.

SAFETY FOR CHILDREN.

Boards of Education Directed to Take Precautions Against Fire.

Thomas E. Finegan, deputy commissioner of education, has addressed a letter to all the boards of education in the state calling their attention to the provisions of the education law relating to stairways, fire escapes and fire drills in the public school buildings. This action is to prevent a possible repetition in New York state of the fire at Peabody, Mass., October 28 last, in which twenty-one girls at St. John's parochial school lost their lives.

"Every possible precaution should be taken to avoid the occurrence of a fire and to protect the lives of the children if a fire does occur," said Dr. Finegan in his letter. "It is found that a building does not afford proper facilities to permit those in the building to leave it in safety in case of a fire."

Dr. Finegan points out that the boards of education have authority to employ engineers or other competent authorities to examine buildings and that the provision of the law are strict in fixing the responsibility for unsafe conditions in school buildings.

MAPLETON TO THE FRONT.

Mrs. Elmendorf Charges Mrs. Weber With Various Misdemeanors

Tuesday morning Mrs. Elizabeth Elmendorf of No. 5 Snyder avenue, paid a visit to Recorder Lang at the city hall and lodged a complaint against a neighbor, Mrs. Esther Weber, who resides next door, and asked that a warrant be issued for her arrest. Mrs. Weber was arrested later on by Policeman William Hess and was arraigned this morning in recorder's court and entered a plea of not guilty and the trial was adjourned until Friday morning in order to give both parties a chance to engage lawyers and secure witnesses.

It has been a long time since any trouble has occurred in the usually quiet suburb of Mapleton but if Mrs. Elmendorf is to be believed things have been quite lively in that vicinity. When she lodged the complaint she claimed that Mrs. Weber on Saturday last had called her a thief and had hurled bricks at her house and at her little boy. At other times while her boy was playing in the vicinity Mrs. Weber had chased him with a pail of hot water. The boy knew it was hot water because he saw the steam arising from it but he did not stop long enough to ascertain by actual contact whether it was hot or not.

As Mrs. Weber declared she was innocent when the charge of being a disorderly person was read to her by the recorder it is likely that there will be some unusually lively doings in recorder's court when the case comes up for trial. Both Mrs. Elmendorf, who is colored, and Mrs. Weber, who is white, expect to secure expert legal talent to represent them and it is expected that a large majority of the residents of Snyder avenue will be summoned to appear as witnesses and testify.
